

CMS Invites MLTSS MCOs to Help Develop and Test Measures

During the next few months, the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) will be inviting health plans to help develop and test new quality measures for Medicaid beneficiaries receiving services through managed long-term services and supports (MLTSS) programs. Mathematical Policy Research and the National Committee for Quality Assurance are charged with testing the measures. The participation of health plans contracted with Medicaid MLTSS programs is vital to the testing process, and the development of valid, reliable measures for MLTSS enrollees. The Project Team anticipates recruiting a diverse range of health plans for this effort. This effort is part of a larger CMS project that aims to develop quality measures for certain groups of Medicaid beneficiaries who have the highest costs and greatest needs for health care and social support.
